

It is both my goal and promise to make it easy for you to get the voiceover you want and need. And to do so easily and quickly.

I record narration of all sorts -for all sorts of clients - in both the Americas and Europe. With a decades-long career in television and film on the technical side of the mic, I have developed a versatile toolbox in audio and media production.

To the craft of voiceover I bring these tools, and am well able to convey your message with a rigorous application of professional effort, and a full understanding of your needs and processes.

Voiceover, made easy.
